Investigator: Is this the liver transplant nurses' station at the First Affiliated Hospital of Xinjiang Medical University? Hi, please tell me the telephone number.

Nurse: 159.

Investigator: 159

Nurse: 0900

Investigator: 0900

Nurse: 9124

Investigator: 9124. What is your name?

Nurse: The last name is He, Doctor He.

Investigator: Are you a nurse?

Nurse: Yes, yes.

Investigator: Ah, as for the liver transplants, are you near capacity, with many patients there?

Nurse: So you better contact him. Please contact him, and he will arrange a room in the inpatient service for you.

Investigator: Ah.

Nurse: You have to talk to him.

Investigator: Oh, fine.

Nurse: Because right now we are almost at full capacity, if you come now, for sure you cannot be hospitalized.

Investigator: Ah.

Nurse: That's why I told you to contact the doctor.

Investigator: Oh, that's fine. Well, how many patients are there on the waiting list? Do you know? Are there as many as 1,000 (patients) there?

Nurse: So you still have to ask him.

Investigator: Ah.

Nurse: Understood?

Investigator: Fine. So I was wondering, as my friend recommended you, one of his family members got it done here within two weeks, according to him. So, right now can it still be done so soon? Can it be done within two weeks, within a month? Are there such cases now?

Nurse: That's why you better contact the doctor, regarding the liver sources...If things go smoothly, it can be done within a week or two weeks.

Investigator: Oh, it can be done in a week or two. Oh, that's fine.
